AMERICAN PLAYERS & THE NHL ENTRY DRAFT

Timeline: The NHL Entry Draft & Hockey in the United States

June 5, 1968 – Curt Bennett and Herb Boxer become the first American players ever selected at the NHL Entry Draft in Montreal. Bennett is selected 16th overall by the St. Louis Blues, while Boxer is taken 17th overall by the Detroit Red Wings.

June 8, 1983 – Brian Lawton, a center from Mt. St. Charles High School (R.I.), becomes the first American to be selected first overall when the Minnesota North Stars choose him with the first pick No. 1 pick at the Montreal Forum.

June 21, 1986 – Seven U.S.-born players are selected in the first round of the NHL Entry Draft at the Montreal Forum. It's the most in the history of the event: Jimmy Carson (2nd), Dan Woodley (7th), Brian Leetch (9th), Scott Young (11th), Craig Janney (13th), George Pelawa (16th), and Tom Fitzgerald (17th).

June 11, 1988 – Mike Modano becomes the second American-born player ever selected first overall when the Minnesota North Stars choose him with the number one pick at the Montreal Forum.

Oct. 11, 1999 – Dave Tanabe becomes the first alumni of USA Hockey's National Team Development Program to play in an NHL game and to score an NHL goal when he scored a power-play goal for the Carolina Hurricanes in his pro debut.

June 24, 2000 – Rick DiPietro becomes the first USA Hockey NTDP player to be selected first overall when the New York Islanders make him the number one pick at the NHL Entry Draft in Calgary. He is also the highest-drafted goalie in the history of the modern draft and the first American goalie ever drafted with the top pick.

In addition, six players are selected in the first round from U.S. colleges: Rick DiPietro (Boston Univ.), Dany Heatly (Univ. of Wisconsin), Ron Hainsey (UMass-Lowell), Brooks Orpik (Boston College), Krys Kolanos (Boston College), Jeff Taffe (Univ. of Minnesota).

June 21, 2003 – Eight U.S.-born players are selected in the first round of the 2003 NHL Entry Draft in Nashville – Ryan Suter (7th), Hugh Jessiman (12th), Dustin Brown (13th), Zach Parise (17th), Mark Stuart (21st), Ryan Kesler (23rd), Brian Boyle (26th) and Patrick Eaves (29th) – marking a new record. July 30, 2005 – A then-record tying eight U.S.-born players are selected in the first round of the NHL Entry Draft in Ottawa. Among them, a record four are chosen among the top 10 picks.

April 22, 2006 – The U.S. Men's National Under-18 Team wins its second straight gold medal at the IIHF World Men's U18 Championship in Angelholm and Halmstad, Sweden.

June 24, 2006 – 10 U.S.-born players hear their names called during the first round of the NHL Entry Draft in Vancouver, including the No. 1 overall selection of Erik Johnson, who became the fifth American-born player to be chosen with the first pick. In addition, 17 players with ties to USA Hockey's NTDP are chosen.

June 22, 2007 – Patrick Kane, the sixth American-born first overall selection, joins Erik Johnson as the first American-born players to be selected with the number one pick in back-to-back years. James van Riemsdyk, who is selected second overall in the draft, teams up with Kane to become the first-ever American-born players to be selected with the first two picks in the draft. A record 29.4 percent – 62 out of the 211 players drafted in 2007 are American.

Jan. 5, 2010 – The U.S. National Junior Team defeats Canada, 6-5 in overtime, to claim its second-ever IIHF World Junior Championship gold medal and first since 2004. 2008 NHL Entry Draft first-round selection John Carlson (Washington Capitals, 27th overall) scored the game-winning goal, while 2010 draft-eligible goaltender Jack Campbell earned the victory between the pipes.

June 26, 2010 – A record 11 Americans are selected in the first round of the 2010 NHL Entry Draft, while a record-tying 21 Americans are selected in the first two rounds, tying the two-round high water mark set in 2007. For defenseman Jacob Trouba and forward Nicolas Kerdiles it was their second consecutive gold medal at the event.
